What job i'm looking for? My positive points

I am simply looking for an opportunity to prove myself worth and grow within the businesses, maybe some day become an operational manager. Did I mention I have a good leadership skills.

I once was in charge of leading a team while my manager was on leave, I had to monitor the entire gusting on online system called grapevine which is used to capture daily movement of bread sales, I was responsible for collecting data and forward to senior management before cut off time, that was a success, I was then awarded the best field assistant of the year.
