What job i'm looking for? My positive points

My success is part of my ability to communicate well with others. It has enabled me to utilize my leadership skills, motivate my peers, and others around me to achieve superior results. Additionally, it has aided me to effectively delegate responsibilities to my fellow peers, which in return, increases efficiency.

I have been working as a cashier since I entered the workforce. Throughout my career, I have worked in a broad variety of environments and am comfortable working with a diverse clientele. I believe that my success in workplaces as different as working in different provinces is a good indicator that I will succeed in any environment. While every company has different expectations, my customer service skills will translate well to any environment. I am also comfortable with the more technical aspects of cashiering, such as keeping track of large sums of money and operating cash registers.
