What job i'm looking for? My positive points

I'm willing to see my self grow in engineering department and see my skill benefit my new company by producing teamwork and art of engineering that we learn in Apprenticeship we have and little site experience I had after trade test.

I realize that an artisans that are improving their skills not just in their trade but in engineering general they become assets to the company .

I have little bit skill and experience in welding and fitting since we deal a lot about structures.

We build and install electrical panels and pneumatic panels. I and my site teammates we specialize on hydraulic and pneumatic. I and my workshop teammates we install, and maintain electrical equipment e.g conduits, ac machines
