Hi.

I'm looking for a job in the following fields.

-im a qualified boilermaker with loads of experience.

-i also have a Qualification in Safety even though I've had little experience working as a Safety officer. i always worked as safety rep which i was more dealing with house keeping, safety rules being kept, Job safety analysis ,first aider, etc. This was at my last work place at South 32 .please see my Resume.

i am now unemployed and looking for work in these fields.

I think the experience i have will to your advantage because i can execute a number of activities with an ease. i was also a team leader /Supervisor for a team of 28 people for a number of years. my duties also included scheduling my team weekly schedule.
