What job i'm looking for? My positive points

My name is Alison Jacobs, I am 26 years old and have just completed my honours degree in Education.

I am hard working, passionate and committed to everything that I do, and I would love to gain valuable experience and lessons in all facets of education and teaching.

Given the opportunity, I will do the best that I can to provide great lessons to all students through creating a positive learning experience.

I have taught at a school for about 2 months for my practical work during my studies and it was very helpful in understanding how important the dynamic is between student and teacher.

Although I do not have much teaching experience, I believe that the knowledge that I had gained through this experience, as well as my years of studies, will be very helpful and beneficial.
