What job i'm looking for? My positive points

I am a student seeking employment so I can pay up my tuition and accommodation fees, since I don't really have much experience I'll say any job is fine by me. My positive points are any job is a job, it does not matter if the pay is higher or lower as long as one gets paid, this days it's really hard for one to get employment so if right now you have a job then please stop complaining and saying my pay is low cause belive me when I say the are people out there who would do anything just to have your job.
