What job i'm looking for? My positive points customer needs and queries in record breaking turnaround time. Working in South Africa has allowed me to learn, grow and continually improve on professional work culture. Lesson learned have also been through the young people that I have mentored and empowered since it is my belief that giving back to society through skilling its individuals is the best way to make a lasting economic and personal growth.

I believe that I am a reliable go to guy for almost all computer and security related services. Over the years I have developed impeccable customer service ethics that enables me to produce highly satisfied clients no matter how big or small the job is.
