What job i'm looking for? My positive points

Witness is a self-motivated and client oriented professional and procurement officer who has built up relevant experience in warehouse management, administration as well as procurement and finance. He has gathered valuable experience predominantly on the INFOR ERP system. His skillset includes amongst other a full working knowledge of INFOR Stock Module (including Receipting cost items, transferring and receipting stock, warehouse cycle counting procedure), full working knowledge of INFOR Procurement module (including placing and receipting purchase orders, sales orders, etc.) as well as financial and sales components of INFOR. Witness has made himself proficient in a number of other INFOR modules as well through disciplined self-training on the INFOR test environment portal and sees every potential stumbling block as an opportunity for growth. Witness is always willing to learn new technologies and is eager to better understand other ERP software technologies that he can utilize to expand his skillset. He is always willing to assist when deadlines require extended working hours and can always be relied upon for any task that requires prompt and correct completion. To round off his professional capabilities, he has come to know a variety of electrical and automation related products and components in his tenure with his current company in the last 3 years, which will especially make him a valuable asset to any company that focuses on the delivery of electrical and automation services toward the South African economy. Witness thrives on responsibility and challenge.
